As you already know,

It's been more than a year since the pandemic of covid19 forced society to switch to remote functioning in all spheres of life.

It's not just education that has migrated to the internet...

The whole bureaucracy spanning from commerce to finances and labor market has evolved to the online realm.

Since evaluation and tests are carried out from the comfort of our homes, cheating naturally became a modern-day plague.

Finding an all-encompassing solution that can allow you to stay one step in front of witty candidates is difficult...but not impossible.

So, if you're conducting high-stakes testing, it's imperative that you find a solution that can keep up with candidates and stop them from cheating.
